

Dear SGI Customer,

Thank you for purchasing Tape Management Facility (TMF).

With this package you have received an entitlement ID that allows you to request a permanent software license key, enabling you to execute TMF on your system platform. To obtain your permanent license, visit the following Software Licensing website:

<http://www.sgi.com/support/licensing/>

To install your license, you must follow the instructions in the TMF Release and Installation Guide.

To obtain future upgrades of TMF, you must have purchased a software support contract covering TMF and the CD media option. If you are a support contract customer, you can also receive assistance with configuration or operation of TMF by calling your local Customer Support Center. Contact your local SGI sales representative to purchase support or for more details on the benefits of a support contract.
