Outgoing Speech

As the 'outgoing' Basher in Chief, I wish to reflect briefly on 2001, The year began with a shock for me. My inauguration took place at Khun Mongkhun Restaurant (Sri Hartamas) at the Annual Dinner 2000. Someone mentioned my name.....I said "What?" Someone else said "Seconded", and lo and behold I was appointed "Basher in Chief" 'What does it all mean?' were my first thoughts & 'what do I have to do?'. Well, I never really found out, as there was no training course, no training manuals, and worse still my, predecessor had already left Malaysia, so there was no hand-over. The closest I got to finding out what my responsibilities were was to check the web-site which made some generic reference about being good at crisis management, and ensuring the health of the club. I printed this out, and kept it over the last 12 months, and at the point Sany was elected "Basher in Chief 2002", I recall he pleaded "What does this role entail?" I happened to have with me the print-out of the 'Job Description' referred to above, and, on showing it to my neighbour (Melody) I said "I shall give him this" to which she replied "No. That does not describe the role properly".....hence (I believe) the reason why I am now the ex-Basher-in-Chief!

So Sany, just remember the guy who applied for the job of "litter collector". On asking what training he could expect in this new role, the response was "Don't worry you will pick it up as you go along!"

Any despite all this I believe 2001 has been a good year for the KLMBH. We had 12 bashes (almost one every month!), (not always falling within the calendar month, but close enough).

We had a great variety of different trails to suit every taste, accepting that not every trail was perfect for all. I do believe that some of the "short, flat & easy family trails" were not conducive to encouraging beginners to return in a hurry. "Beer Me" Sweeney will live forever with the memory of the Kajang Bash where (as normal) he gave the car keys (and thus access to the Beer/100 Plus coffin) to his lovely wife who was doing the short run, on the reasonable assumption that she would be one of the early returners. It was a tough bash, and the long riders returned after 2+ hours gasping, only to find that no short riders had yet returned. Luckily the Kajang Boys had brought their own "refreshments" so no-one was lost to dehydration, but pity the short riders who arrived one by one over the next few hours! KLMBH could have set record drinks sales on that day if Beer Me had cut a spare set of keys!

Never mind drinks sales, the important point is for hares to set the short runs to be conducive to encouraging the beginners & those less fit, to enjoy the experience & return again, hopefully to become members and graduate to the long rides.

9.30 a.m., 27 January 2001

Hares: Eric Teo and Low Min Chee

Some allowance should be given to the tripmeter reading, as ours read 67km from Damansara tol to Tanjung Malim tol. Zero tripmeter as you pay at Tg Malim tol. There will be hash signs directing you at the following junctions:

- 0.1km Turn left at traffic light (T-junction) towards Ipoh
- 4.0km Turn right at traffic light (+ -junction) towards Kg Slim & Behrang Ulu
- 12.3km Turn right at bridge towards Slim River town. Nearby, milestone reads 22km to Slim River
- 21km Turn right into Sg Bil. Get ready to pay RM1 as you enter
- 21.8km Parking area. More parking space across the stream.

Anyone with problems to the above, can call me(Low) at 012-3166777 (or 011-347868 on Jan 27, as Maxis reception at Sg Bil is not good. Merry X'mas and Happy New Year!!!

Apart from saying a big "Thank You" to the Committee, I would like to recognise all of the 2001 hares, without whose effort and dedication there would be nothing for us to enjoy.

The tally is as follows: -
11 brave souls who are not committee members + one dog are recorded in the annals of history as having set trials, and they are as follows; - Charl Bester, Chew TH, Ingrid Burke, Scott Roberts, Andrew Elford, James Lim, Joe Lim (alias gostarnjoe), Eric Teo, Nick Smith, Jake Slodki, Matt Schneller & Speedy the dog, (or is it a bitch?)

8 masochists enjoyed it so much that they did it several times

3 Melody (or is it "TankGirl")
3 BeerMe
3 Rocket Boy
2 Casper
2 Rainman
2 Hulk
2 Chew
2 Matt ('Billboard')

Well done Guys & Gals and any year now those hares who have achieved the 5+ will be rewarded in a way that will make the rest of us drool & turn green with envy!

I have not departed the scene, but take on my new role as Bash Cash following a stalwart efforts by Hulk over the past 6 years.

Annual Spill

On Saturday 8th December, the KLMBH members (and guests) gathered again. Only this time without their gears... not even their bike mobiles. The destination was NOT into a mud parade or leech infested grounds but into the character full set of Liana's Café in Taman Megah PJ. It was the KLMBH Annual Dinner.

The menu for the night: lots of food followed by the AGM to choose the new committee; and the much anticipated raffle... all wrapped up in a night filled with a whole lot of socializing with your monthly 'crashing buddies'. As the term ends I guess our way of thanking the committee is through the cheer and applause we gave to each committee member accompanied by Basher in Chief's (Rocketboy) excellent speech about the dedicated team. We all know how hard you guys worked on keeping the bash going, we know you are good at it so that's why we thought you should still be in the committee. So we managed to maintain Raymond, Melody and Speedy in the new 2002 committee. (ps. We are also proud to announce that Erik Teo is in the committee ☺)

We also owe a great debt of gratitude to Rainman for 32 editions of Basherama. When I realise how long it has taken me to compose this, it helps me realise what a superb, sterling effort he has accomplished over the last 3 years. Many thanks Fuji, and Melody.....follow that!

On that note Melody, you have (I believe) been responsible for not only ensuring we have had 12 rides this year, and we have hares right through to QI 2002, but in addition, you have also been instrumental in improving the finances of the club though your excellent organisation, and co-ordination of members & guests at each and every ride. This year we have also halved guest fees, and abolished fees for children, which in turn is supposed to encourage greater interest in our monthly Bashes and hopefully swell our membership list, and with our growing membership list it looks like the strategy is working.

Finally "give the bitch some satay".....no not Melody, but many thanks to Speedy for doing an excellent job of maintaining the website. I just need to give her another bone to ensure that I can have a picture of myself on the home page during 2002.

HAPPY NEW YEAR & ENJOY YOUR RIDE, WHO EVER IT IS WITH AND WHEREVER IT MAY BE!

RocketBoy

Then it was torture time. It all came down to a cardboard box, containing one big load of biking goodies from tires to bike pumps, Rudy Projects to Camelbaks, bladders, Aliens, Cyclometers, Time pedals, Flite Saddle, CycloSport Heart Rate Monitor, Suunto watch and the much talked about 'Global Position System'. I cannot really recall who won what but I do remember wishing my number to come out of Joe's mouth all that 20 or 30 times he uttered a number from the raffle. Of course, it never did.

Congratulations to the 2002 committee. Feel free to give a shout if you guys need some help, in the meantime like Raymond said, we will continue to moan and groan about how hard the bashes are, not enough paper, so hot...etc So far, too confusing, too early (for some of us who are perpetually late!) too late bla bla bla. Hey! That's what we do best other than getting lost on the rides and not to forget.... The honourable, graceful and skillful art of shortcutting!

Vim 'Shortcutter' Sivagnanam

November Bash - Ulu Yam
Short run

I took the SHORT track for the above event as a new member, this was my 4th time in this monthly BASH. Of all the tracks, I found this was the most pleasant & exciting one. PLEASANT, it means wasn't that tough, moderate uphill & 2 check points only. EXCITING, was cycling through the rocky route & passing through 2 shallow cool rivers. The most interesting part was I had a flat tyre without having anything with me. Luckily, I got to meet up with 3 very helpful members (2 gals & 1 guy), they were Xena, Hui Peng & Peter.

They lent me a spare tyre & even showed me how to change it. No doubt this was a pleasant ride with not much sweat the lesson I gain that day was learning how to change a tyre, never the lest I must have all stuff with me on the next BASH. But...I think I still need more practice.

Lastly, my comments for the members of KLMBH are FRIENDLY, NICE & HELPFUL. What a great bash?!!!!

On On & regards,
Karen Ong

December Bash – Nirvana, Semenyih
Long Run

Sunday was a sad day as an American living in Malaysia...

In the past, I have heard the comment that Americans can be ignorant in the ways of foreign language, culture, and tradition. I am sorry to report that we also have a SPELLING problem. Matt Schneller, my countrymen, was asked to set up a "HASH" course. Apparently he heard "HARSH" course. Let me explain how Matt achieved his goal.

First, Matt diligently consulted the latest meteorological charts and found the HOTTEST day that I can remember in my three months here in Malaysia for the event. Second, Matt picked a venue that would definitely remind us all of our own frailty and mortality at Nirvana Memorial Park. Third, Matt set us off on a nice uphill warm-up ride that had some people walking their bikes before we were even onto the dirt trail.

As this was a clear indication of things to come, many of the more intelligence people in the group opted out of the long ride and switched to the short one. For those of us less academically gifted, we continued on the long ride. And for the star pupil in the class, she feigned equipment problems at a mere 0.8 km into the ride and suggested that she wouldn't be able to continue at all. Ever vigilant Matt, who was acting as sweeper, was able to see right through this ruse and sorted out an alternative bike to get her going again. I must concede that I also had a hand in contributing to the misery of this person, as it was my spare bike.

After sorting out the extra bike, I found myself riding with Matt up a ridiculously steep hill looking for stragglers. As with many things mechanical, things seem to work when you don't want them to work and don't work you need them to. This was the case with my clip-in pedals, which instantly clipped-in the moment I stepped onto the pedals as I started up this hill. Add to this, some bad gear changes and a lack of momentum, and I found myself on the ground twice within two minutes of starting up the hill.

Wishing desperately for three more hours of sleep and a breakfast that was more substantial than a banana, I continued on, both on the bike and on foot. Matt, who was behind me at this point, also seemed to struggle in the oppressive heat.

This balance of the ride did not change; strenuous, nearly impossible, uphill climbs, followed by nice downhill runs. The downhill runs were made quite exciting by three river crossings over rickety old narrow wood bridges with sharp drops to the sides. A fourth and last crossing across a concrete bridge was equally interesting due to the 3-inch gaps between the planks. Anyone unlucky enough to place a wheel in the gap would certainly be visiting Boon Foo's shop if not the hospital. Equally 'exciting' was the trek through the bush where the foliage would instantly open up to reveal the 8-inches between your front bike tire and a fifteen-foot drop-off to the side. Better to look straight ahead.

Justice and karma being what it is though, many of the long ride stragglers were treated to watching Matt come down a particularly gnarly part of the trail on the backside of the hill. With an audience watching, Matt proved that he was as mortal as the rest of us and walked away with the best battle wounds of the day. The long ride as a whole was not overly technical, nor overly long (less than 20km). It was a lot of very long uphill climbs on a very hot day in a very nice venue. I believe special thanks should go to the people at Nirvana Memorial Park who were very hospitable in providing access, drinks and food. Also thanks to Matt who spent his last six weekends laying out this tortuous course. Thanks also to Melody, who while not specifically named above, may have had an equal hand in Sunday's misery/ride.

December bash – Nirvana, Semenyih

Short run

The bike hash held last Sunday, 10th December was HOT, HOT, HOT.

The Nirvana Memory Park is like the 5-star hotel for the departed with an impressive gigantic dragon structure guarding the hill. The rows of golden Buddha statues and mild chanting of the dharma over the PA system cast a serenity and peaceful feel to the environment. The management's hospitality is quite an eye opener for me to see the striving undertaker industry.

The assemble of cars and bikes gathered under a clear blue sky and overlooking a wide vast picturesque scenery of rolling hills and valleys of the Nirvana Memorial Park. The hashers rolled downhill to the fanciful arch entrance of the Nirvana Memorial Park for a group photo session before the start of the hash ride. But the ride back up to the start off point of the hash route has taken its' toll on some of the bikers as some were seen pushing their bike up the tarred road. That is a total of 2km ride already and WE HAVEN'T EVEN STARTED ON THE RECCE'ED HASH ROUTE YET! There was one technical problem faced by a biker just before the start of the route, Hui Peng's seat post was broken and her seat was wobbly all the way. Luckily, a knight in shiny polyester jersey and lycra pants has one extra bike in his Ford Ranger pick-up to lend this lady and everyone managed to get on the ride without any disappointment.

At the end of the tarred road on top of the hill marked the start of the off-road trail beginning with a fairly long decent sprawled with streams of drain lines into the red soil. Many got off the bikes and rolled their bikes down in fear of doing the over-the-handlebar acrobats if their front wheel were to jammed into the deep parallel running water drains. By this time, the sun was mercilessly scorching the skin of our arms and legs making roasts out of those who left their sunblock lotions behind. After the getting a taste of the first up and downhill ride and anticipation more to come into the trail, many long riders had last minute change of mind and decided to take on the short route instead.

The ride through the orchard was quite a memorable one for some. As accounted by first time hasher, Mary Yap, "...the path was narrow...the drop down the left into ravine was so deep.. I was praying that I don't need to stop pedalling as I always stop on my left side. As I pedalled through, I heard a scream from the back".

That scream came from another first time hasher, Ching Ching, as she lost her balance along the bumpy narrow path and tilted off to the left... towards the ravine. Luckily she didn't roll down all the way into the swamp but rather landed into the bushes on the steep face of the ravine. Coming out of the hash with minor scrapes and cuts and a smile on her face, this tough chick will still be coming back for more. Way to go, grrl!

This ride marks my first ride ever to be flung over my handlebar after years of cycling. I was tailing another rider coming down a scree covered steep laterite trail when the front rider loses her balance and came to a halt in the middle of the path. Hitting the brakes and avoiding running over the front rider on the road got me ended up in a heap of metal, soil and flesh. Relatively unmaimed except for some bruises, scrapes and a very sore bum, it was quite a rush and quite an experience. A fellow biker welcomed me into the club of the hardcore mountain bikers after this fall. !?!!

After many ups and downs, through thick undergrowth and single-track paths, we rolled through this open green field over looking the rolling hills and picturesque scenery not unlike the little house of the prairie vast land. One has to exclaim with bewilderment of the sight and some satisfaction of the view after the effort. We came down onto the tar road and it was all easy ride from there on all the way back onto the off-road trail and back to the start point. As we make our way back into the beautiful memorial park, I couldn't help but to state that I'll rather be there while alive then dead to enjoy the sight and scenery of this place.

Oh boy was it hot. Out of the last 3 hashes that I've been on so far, this hash holds the record for being the most challenging short route ride to date for me. The severe uphill and treacherous downhills might give beginners some shudders. Some even commented that it is more like a hiking trip, having to push their bikes for almost half of the whole 10km ride as some of the hills are too severe to climb and descend. Some people come out of the ride scraped, bruised and cut, others come out of the ride partially roasted and tanned. But in whatever state that we came out of the ride with, we came out of the Nirvana Memorial Park feeling better enriched by the experience and enjoy the gift of being alive and truly living it.

1. Selamat Hari Raya, Happy Christmas and a Happy New Year to all our members and friends of KLMBH. It is with great honour that I take over the job as Editor from Fuji, who has done an amazing job previously with this newsletter. He does it so well that he has even agreed to send the 1st issue out on my behalf but not without bribes!

2. A special mention to both the Scribes for the Nirvana bash, Sharon and Robert (Bob) who gave in their reports at a record speed of 3 days. We ALWAYS welcome your feedback whatever it may be. Do check out the new Talk-back section.
3. I welcome all comments on how to improve the Basherama and will try to do to the best of my abilities. So drop me a line or two via email.

Talk-back on Nirvana Bash

1. Cleaning all climbs (save the one at orchard). Roland comes crashing into me after I bail out on tricky descent. Getting a 20 minute lead from front riders after they all get lost on the back check!!! Seeing Ashley play dumb on all the false trails and checks! Adele diligently looking for trail while Ashley and I 'buat' dunno. Blasting down the final descent at breakneck speed: taking corners with the rear and front sliding (Won't ever do this again never!) stupid moment of the year award : Getting a puncture while pushing bike.

James Yap, PCC President

2. Actually I thoroughly enjoyed myself yesterday. Honestly it was one of the best BASHes this year, as it wasn't the run of the mill 'high way' trails that are usually found in rubber/palm oil estates....

The first part of the rails were nice and shady, of course by the end it was a wee bit hot, but okaylah – pretty bearable. Of course by that time I was thinking to myself these cheeky buggers, set false trails, that did not end up any tree of in a cross!!! The finishing downhill was excellent... smooth sailing all the way back down to the road.

Interesting parts...

James and Adele flatting out in the same area at the same time (those bloody palm oil thorns!). Almost losing my car keys to a palm oil tree. Tom singing at the top of his lungs after seeing a cobra (and me following suit when I was alone on the trail). A large monitor lizard running off ahead of me on the trail (those buggers are bloody fast!)

Adele Cheah

3. Yes. It was most definitely worth it! I feel quite tired but that is accompanied by lethargy, which is good. During the bash, I was cursing you though since the uphill were really quite tough! I spent most of my time pushing and the downhills I kept ending up on the ground. (I haven't managed to get the rapid dismount from the SPDs sorted yet – need some more practice and will endeavour) Yes, I admit the bike was kicked and thrown once or twice as I was stuck underneath it and still very much connected to it by the shoes! Oh well, such is life! So all in all, yes very good and looking forward to the next one.

Andy Grainger

4. Hey, that was a tough bash. I don't know about the French or American engines, but a 'Jeep Wrangler' would need winch with ample body armour. The Bash started with a massacre, right at the trailhead! I cannot remember being on the saddle throughout the first half of the bash. A lot of pushing. I almost went for the short ride. But Matt would call me 'chicken' for the rest of my life. So, Matt, there is no basis for you to call me 'chicken'. You haven't got a nick right? Don't worry, we have endless list of nicknames for you that came out during the tough climbs! The second half of the ride, we were rewarded quite generously with stretches of single tracks along the river, which reminded me of some gentle parts of Kiara...and the long down hill, the very last stretch in the open was just brilliant. It started with such a breathtaking view and horrible heat but the downhills was great. There were quite a number of casualties, actually.... and....even Ashley, partner in crime got LOST!

Mazlim Husin

5. About the last long downhill, I have to tell you that a rocket passed me. It was the crazy guy from Belgium. I knew Tom was capable of great things uphill but didn't know about downhill. When this guy goes downhill, he has no brain. I am not sure if he knows that he ride a bike with only two wheels. I was at about 65 km/h and trying to pass smoothly bump and ruts while I heard a loud noise coming from behind. I have seen a guy on an American Black bike, jumping like a Kangaroo, with a large smile on his face. I thought it was Matt, but realized very quickly that at this speed, there is no chance to see Matt around. I released my brakes but he passed me and I was not able to catch up. Next time, I ask a surgeon to spoil my brain before I go downhill with Tom. Then I will have a chance to compete with this terrrrrrrible challenger.

HARELINE

In order to facilitate the efficient planning of your 2002 cycling calendar, the following Bash dates have been fixed for next year. As in the past two years, your Committee has decided not to adopt a receding hareline, whereby all members are required to set hashes on a rota system, this year and therefore volunteer hares are needed to keep the Hareline going.

Setting a Bash is a rewarding experience as it involves planning, much adventure, camaraderie, some deviant thinking and a great sense of satisfaction when the pack charges off down your false trail and/or your fellow Bashers curse you out at the end of the Bash and then buy you a beer. In fact, setting a Hash is so much fun as evidenced by the Hare Tonic on page 7.

Anyone interested in setting a Bash can contact Eric Teo, the Hare-Raiser, and for those who have no experience in setting a Bash, fear not for your Committee shall pair you up with an experienced Hare who shall pass on his/her wisdom free of charge. Hares will also have the exclusive use of the KLMBH guillotine and the KLMBH directional signs to help prepare for their Bash (Ooh! Ahh!).

Bash	Bash #	Date	Hares/Notes
January	88	27 January 2002	Low Min Chee and Eric Teo (also called the Fatt Fatt Bash)

HARE TONIC

In Basherama! 48, Hare Tonic was introduced in an effort to encourage more members to step forward as hares. The idea was to reward hares who had set 5 or more Bashes with Pewter Mugs. The Committee is currently sourcing the rewards (which may or may not be in the form of Pewter Mugs or exclusive Jerseys) with the intention of presenting them to the deserving hares as soon as possible (whenever that is!).

The score as it stands as updated by Speedy the Dog on our very own webbe site and further updated by my own count as at 1 January 2002 is presented below. As mentioned before, if you feel that you've set more Bashes than listed below, kindly contact Ed. or Speedy the Dog to set the record straight.
